Subject: Bhagavd Gita
One of the best sacred texts of the world said by Albert Einstein. It is excellent and divine too.
One of the greatest contributions of India to the world is Holy Gita which is considered to be one of the first revelations from God. The eighteen chapters of the Bhagavad-Gita are found in the Bhisma-parva(23-40), of Mahabharata which was compiled by Veda Vyasa. Let me bow with folded hands to Indian Maharishi Veda Vysa, who contributed to the world the "supreme knowledge" through his writings on various sacred texts.Gitais one of the most popular and accessible of all Indian scriptures, which is to be studied by anyone interested in Indian philosophy. The Gitateaches how one's aim in life can be achieved; howsoever it may be difficult, by doing his duty with devotion, and meditation, integrating many different threads of Indian philosophy. It gives correct solution to all the problems in human life. One has to do his duty as mother looks after a child. Among all the sacred texts of India, the Gita greatly influenced the east and the west. Many philosophers,transcendentalists were deeply influenced by its insights, and thousands of individuals struggling with many problemshave found comfort and wisdom in its pages.The greatest significance of the Gita lies in the fact that it proposes a solution to a central typical problem of human life that presents itself at a certain critical stage of development. We may say that Arjuna to whom the teaching is addressed is a representative man, and the problem that he faced arose at a certain height of ethical concern in the midst of an actual and symbolic battlefield (Kurukshetra, which is also Dharmakshetra).
